

Journal on New Biological Reports

ISSN 2319 – 1104 (Online)

AIM AND SCOPE

Journal on New Biological Reports is an international peer-reviewed Journal which offers rapid publication of new and unusual reports in all the fields of biology, with preference to new geographical records in the field of Botany, Zoology, Mycology and Plant pathology, Biodiversity, Taxonomy, Agricultural Sciences, Entomology, Environmental Sciences, Ecology, Horticulture, Pharmaceutical Sciences, New biological techniques, new plant/ animal diseases, pathogens and management methods.

The topic should be original, addressing clear hypotheses or questions and of general interest to our readers. It is strongly recommended that before submission of Manuscript for Publication in the Journal visit instructions to author's page of the Journal. JNBR is owned by a nonprofit organization dedicated to the promotion of scientific research and Environmental Protection. All manuscripts should be submitted to newreports02@gmail.com.

Submission of a manuscript for consideration by JNBR indicates that the authors have neither previously published nor is simultaneously submitting substantially the same material in another journal or book. The paper having multiple authors the corresponding author must confirm by a letter that all authors have read and approved the manuscript. It is compulsory for all authors to sign on the copyright form. The articles will be published in the approximate order of their acceptance and the dates of submission.

